VAUDEVILLE ON THE POTOMAC

From the sublime to the ridiculous...

THE resumption of the silver dollar minting issue reached new heights of absurdity in the U.S. Senate on Wednesday, June 3. The touchy question was debated in an atmosphere reminiscent of Gilbert and Sullivan antics.

Apparently exhausted by the intricacies of the Strategic stockpile management monthly report and after a brief excursion into the civil rights marasm, the U.S. Senate chose to continue its arduous proceedings on a lighter note.

This was achieved through introduction by Senator Mansfield of a doggerel rhyme originating from his home state. The poem vaguely related to the Elisabethan sonnet by virtue of its length only, points out in its introduction "All of our dollars are tattered and torn". In the absence of an explanation for these synonyms it may be assumed the author meant heavy bag marks, nicks and scratches so commonly encountered on silver dollars.

The epic continues by "They snatched all our cartwheels away."

The traditional potshot at the Mayflower descendants then followed: "Folks back east who like nickels and quarters much, gave our cartwheels to hoarders to squeeze". The sad document continues ad nauseam.

At this point Senator Mansfield mentioned he held a proxy of 53,000 signatures originating from Montana urging the resumption of silver dollars minting: the Hon. Mansfield announced the support of this measure by Sen. Robertson (subcommittee for Treasury appropriations) and Sen. Hayden (Appropriations committee).

On a note of perfect harmony, Senator Humphrey enchaind by this brilliant piece of rhetoric: "After hearing the poetic plea... which must have touched the heart of every Senator, and even the hardest heart (sic) of any officer of the Government, I cannot imagine there will be anything but prompt action".

Asked to yield, Mr. Humphrey was succeeded by Senator Miller of Iowa, who was given the floor at the condition "only if the Senator intends to speak in support of the minting of silver dollars".

Mr. Miller wondered if it was suggested "that we (the Senate) would be more effective if we presented our pleas for the passage of bills and the adoption of amendments in poetic language".

In rapid succession Mr. Carlson of Kansas then pointed out the resolution of the Kansas Bankers Association urging the additional coinage of silver and the usage of private enterprise for coin manufacturing.

For some tenebrous reason Mr. Mansfield then replied "I have always had a high regard for the Kansas Bankers Association, and that regard has been considerably enhanced this morning". The exact tie-in, between the Senior Senator of Montana and the Kansas bankers, to this moment remains an enigma however.

Strong support to the measure of silver dollars minting was given by Senator Aiken of Vermont who in firm and sober terms endorsed the idea wholeheartedly.

This temporary return to decorum quickly changed when Senator Simpson of Wyoming requested the permission to sing a song, which permission was granted by the Chair and went like this:

The silver dollar rolls along the ground
Because it is round, round, round
A woman goes from man to man,
But a silver dollar goes from hand to hand.

After completion of this profound ode, Mr. Simpson expressed his full support for the silver dollar minting proposal and added: "... if the Government would give one dollar to each of the 53,000 signers of the petition, urging resumption of silver dollar minting, there would be more silver dollars in circulation than we have at the present time". The symbolism of this assertion is somewhat obscure and escapes normal interpretation.

In the best of Congressional tradition Mr. Mansfield replied: "Because of the close connection of the two states the use of the silver dollar is recognized especially between Cody and Billings". Hurriedly added Mr. Mansfield: "Of course it is recognized elsewhere, too".

The spokesman for South Dakota, Senator Mundt, pointed out in this historic session his support for the measure, urging the resumption of silver dollar minting and added the following comments:

"The Senator's proposal started me to thinking about whether we could not save a little money while we use as much silver, since we have new dies now for the Kennedy half dollar. Since the dollar is now worth only about 50 cents, why de we not mint the Kennedy 50-cent piece, and say, "This is a Democratic dollar, because it buys only 50 cents' worth of goods"?"

Followed an anecdote by Mr. Mansfield relating the peregrinations of a Bozeman, Montana merchant who had conceived the brilliant idea of pasting two half dollars together to achieve the illusionary impression of a cartwheel; his subsequent dealings with the Secret Service are aptly described. Mrs. Mundt, Miller, Humphrey and Mansfield then heatedly engaged in a dissertation on the relative weight, sound and purchasing power characteristics of the silver dollar and the much decried "greenback".

This is an exact account of the U.S. Senate in full session on June 3 debating the crucial issue of silver dollars minting. The seriousness of the issue escapes no one, the tone of the proceedings, however, may well raise the question: how seriously is the issue really taken by the Congress?

The debate concluded with the sober and history tinted expose by Senator Yarborough of Texas who stated in essence:

"I commend the distinguished majority leader for his support of hard currency, including the silver dollar. In the western and southwestern country the silver dollar has always been used as a part of the medium of exchange. We in Texas have a long common border with Mexico of more than a thousand miles. Silver has always been the medium of exchange there; the 5-peso Mexican coin, the size of a silver dollar, is a common medium of exchange in Mexico. We would regret to have a weaker medium in our own country.

"As a member of the delegation from this body to the 51st Inter-parliamentary Union at Brasilia in 1962, I found that in Mexico—peso—and Peru—sol—the silver dollar size coin was in common usage, but when we visited richer countries like Argentina and Bra-

The Extinct Buffalo Nickel

Varieties Abound

Disenchantment with new coin designs seems to have been a universal phenomena in earlier years. The Indian head or Buffalo type nickel was no exception to this rule. Time and change in numismatic taste have finally done justice to the effigy of "Black Diamond", the New York zoo buffalo, selected as model by James Earl Fraser for the five cent nickel reverse of 1913.

Composite Design

The obverse design is the result of a composite physiognomical study of three Indian chiefs i.e. Chief Big Tree-Seneca for the forehead, eyes and nose; Chief Two Moons-Sioux for mouth, cheeks and chin; Chief Iron Tail for the head and neck.

In collaboration with his wife, Laura Gardin Fraser, the originator of the Buffalo nickel contributed to the design of the Oregon Trail Memorial commemorative half dollar of 1926.

A prolific and esteemed artist, Laura Fraser designed the Alabama centennial commemorative half dollar, the Grant memorial silver and gold commemoratives and the Fort Vancouver centennial commemorative issue.

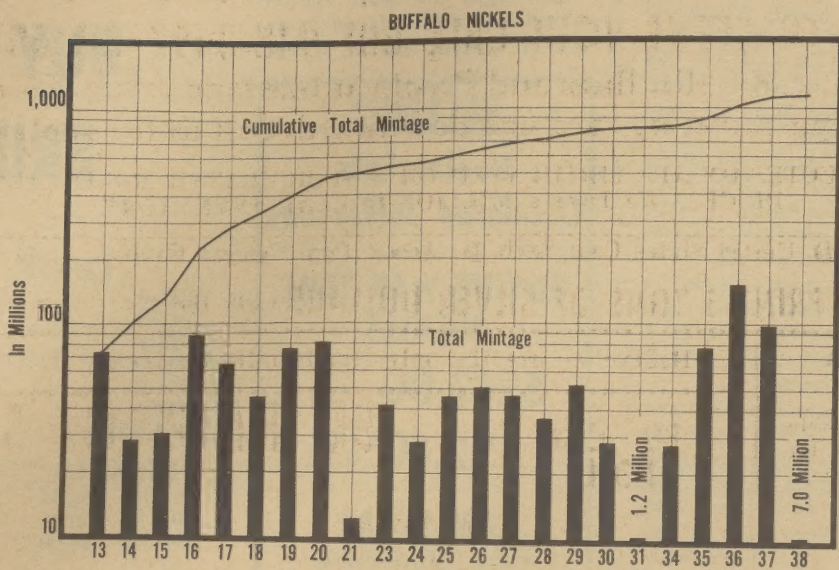

The original 1913 Buffalo nickel design type 1 was changed the same year of its issuance. The raised mound on which the Buffalo stands proved too prominent thus causing the fast wear of the letters 'five cents'. The changed version, type 2, featured lowered characters, this was achieved by cutting away the lower part of the mound. In spite of these design changes, the characters, date and motto remained vulnerable to wear. This is amply reflected in the condition of circulated specimens presently encountered in change.

Study In Varieties

The study of Buffalo nickel varieties is a field of numismatics in itself. Asides from the type 1 and 2 designs, better known varieties include the 1918-D over 7 variety, 1938-D over S variety and the 1937-D 3 legged variety. The figures 7/8 and combinations thereof seem to exercise a strange fascination on U. S. mint technicians. Vaguely familiar in this respect are the tricks played on the tail feathers of Morgan's eagle in the silver dollar issue of 1878. The bird began with eight tail feathers but after a brutal obliteration, visually reducing this number to seven, the last outrages were applied in pulling out the 8th feather altogether.

A similar feat of surgical dexterity took place with the amputation of the Buffalo's fourth leg in 1937. Fortunately for the Buffalo, many specimens encountered are fakes according to contemporary numismatic chroniclers. Warns Whitman's red book: "Beware of removed leg."

Buffalo nickel mint production is characterised by uniform output over the years. Typical low-mintage years include 1921, 1931 and 1938. The new Jefferson design which succeeded the Buffalo nickel in 1938 was released the same year, this accounts for the two designs bearing the same date mark.

Price Performance

Price performance of the Buffalo nickel has been rewarding for collectors who in the thirties had the foresight to collect uncirculated specimens. Few did however. It is futile to attempt quoting prices for Unc. rolls with the exception of post 1936 issues.

High prices prevail in the entire uncirculated series. This has discouraged many collectors to start an Unc. Buffalo nickel set.

By the time collectors realized the value of putting together sets, the individual coins had priced themselves out of the market. The 1935-D and S price performance chart illustrates this theory. By 1952, these rolls could still be bought in the $10-15 range. Collectors interest drove prices to considerable heights in the following decade, earlier years followed the same pattern thus, "killing" the series before it had any real chance for development.

Very little activity has been noticeable in recent months. Prices continue to edge upwards but no serious interest is developing. Volume is low because of total lack of offerings on a competitive scale.

Quotations for complete Buffalo sets include: Abt. good $100; Very good $200; Fine $500; XF $1000. A factor contributing to the relative lack of popularity is grading, opinions are widely divergent and unfortunately 'intermediate' grading classes have been developed.

Problems In Grading

Strict conformity to the new 1964 Brown and Dunn grading manual is recommended when acquiring Buffalo nickels. In all objectivity, 'undergrading' is by far preferable to buyer and seller alike in evaluating them. Overgrading Buffalo nickels is the purest form of numismatic self-delusion ever encountered, its perpetuation is perhaps the largest single factor which makes the entire series unpopular.

Priced at $300, a Buffalo nickel set in V.G. condition can be considered reasonably priced at the present time. In general this type of participation is not recommended for the investor because this grading class is not a liquid investment item. In the case of the Buffalo nickels however, the conventional and hard rule can not be applied; therefore some participation in this market would appear desirable. The long term potential of this market is undeniable. Sharp price drops are unlikely because of small quantities overhanging the market.

Expert's Opinion

Because of the highly specialized nature of this market an expert on Buffalo nickels was contacted. He offered the following views: "In general, the market for Buffalo nickels has been disappointing. The largest percentage of orders filled recently comes from collectors who started albums years ago and started with coins of good to better grades, they are now completing these albums with Fair to Good coins. Few people are starting Buffalo books because of the prohibitive cost. Furthermore, collectors are not inclined to start a circulated set when they can only find few if any of the coins in circulation."

The chances for running or promoting the series by dealers are slim, he stated, because of the low supplies available. Two rolls with the best investment potential include 1931-S and 1937-S. The 1931-S has trading possibilities because its relative availability. Expansion of type collecting could make it a desirable item. The 1937-S situation is intriguing because of its low price in relationship to the other Buffalo nickels. Ultimately this price will align itself with the rest of the market.

He further stated that he feels a further price increase in all grades is forthcoming because of the rapid depletion of available dealer supplies. Replacement cost for dealers has climbed steeply, forcing them to pay higher prices.

Letters

to the editor

June 8, 1964

Space City Numismatic Publications, Inc.
Houston, Texas

Dear Sirs:

In the June 4th issue of PACE Russell K. Brown outlines a hypothetical case showing why the usual dealer markup is not unreasonable.

It is my thought that your readers might be interested in the experiences and impressions of a brand new convert to the so called investor group. I will, of course, mention no dealers name. This would accomplish nothing. My business travels cover a goodly portion of the mid-west and by contact and correspondence I have made purchases from 9 dealers in all parts of the country. Total purchases since early April, almost $5000.00. The following should be typical.

For income tax purposes I must keep records of date and cost of all purchases. From one dealer only, have I received a detailed invoice or bill. Most replies have been on a piece of scratch paper.

On May 18 I ordered advertised material, enclosing a personal check. A nice reply assured me that shipment would be made as soon as my check cleared. I have the cancelled check with my June 1 bank statement. As of today nothing received.

On June 1, I asked permission from another dealer for permission to return a shipment of very poor strike 1954 nickels for replacement or rebate. No reply as of now. My letter was sent Air mail.

May 27 I ordered from still another dealer enclosing a bank money order. Have heard nothing at all.

My first contact with the Coin Business has been the most unpleasant and really the only one that amounts to much. A Sunday advertisement in a local large city newspaper outlined the opportunities in Dollar Investment. I called the dealer. He offered to come to my motel for discussion. I explained that I knew absolutely nothing about Coins.

We spent a very pleasant and interesting 2 or 3 hours. I was told that BU Rolls of Cents might have one or two end coins discolored slightly. Of course the word is now TONED. GEMS were BUs which the dealer had personally sorted to eliminate dinged or scratched coins. It was finally suggested that I start with a set of 1934-1940 rolls of GEM CENTS. The price was set by using PACE asked price plus 10% for Gem rating and profit.

These were purchased along with several additional BU rolls of miscellaneous cents. I have the feeling that these latter items were to clean the refrigerator. Returning home I found 9 of these GEM rolls were marked GEM. 5-Nice, 2 Choice, 4 including the 1934-D had no grade mark.

Upon my inspection at home I found the 1934-D roll as black on the edges as coins in circulation several years. This continued onto both faces with some copper green cast. In my opinion there were Uncirculated with very poor care. After several letters and phone calls during which I was told correctly, that I knew nothing about such things and a lot of unpleasantness I was given permission to return the roll for rebate.

Then the real trouble started. Since your PACE prices were used originally, I felt that a rebate should be on the percentage price of the roll. At time of purchase. The dealer thought he was very generous to offer PACE current BID price. Just a little matter of $70.00 difference.

I'm happy to have gotten started in COINS. My only purpose in writing this is to suggest to dealers to be a bit more careful and understanding in their dealings with we rank amateurs.

I thank you.

Very truly your,
Chas. A. Cook

Editor's note — The article titled "The cost of coin investment" to which Mr. Cook refers, has been written solely with the coin investor in mind. The investor's view point has been carefully analyzed by Mr. Brown, he has not attempted to define "reasonable" or "unreasonable" dealer markups however.

Reno Show Draws Large Dealer Turnout

The Silver Dollar Is An Uneasy King

By Russell K. Brown

SOME ninety-five dealers attended the national Retail Coin Dealers Association show in Reno, Nevada over the weekend of the sixth and seventh of June and the main subject of discussion and transaction was the silver dollar. Only eight of the bourse tables did not offer Morgan and Peace specimens for sale, either in single or roll quantity.

Materially responsible for this increased interest in the cartwheel was the knowledge picked up in the various casinos and places of business that the silver dollar has all but disappeared from the Nevada scene. Only one casino was observed using the dollars instead of the new dollar chips and even they made a definite effort to remove the silver from play as fast as it would appear.

(A surreptitious examination of the dollars in play was made at several tables and it was found that they were thoroughly culled specimens. Only the most common dates and mints were still in use.)

Prices on the dollars fluctuated widely dependent on the quantity involved. Singles priced at $2.25 were selling at $1.20 in bag quantity. It was noted that many of the coins casually labelled as B. U. were heavily bag marked A. U. specimens. This caveat emptor situation is rapidly becoming as bad in the Morgan and Peace series as it is in the Buffalos and Mercuries.

Gold Is Popular

Second to the interest in silver at the show was that in gold. Almost half of the dealers present had some gold for sale. These stocks ranged from common date U.S. coinage to exotic foreign gold. No decrease in the usual price range was noted.

Third to the above two groups of merchandise was the interest in the roll market. Many of the guests at the show expressed a desire for common and current rolls of cents, nickels and dimes from either Philadelphia or Denver. Since most of the dealers who had journeyed long distances did not care to carry the heavy weight of these low price rolls, the few dealers carrying them did quite well for their trouble.

Strangely enough, only ten of the tables offered proof sets in any quantity. Many of the dealers expressed interest in buying even the current dates of sets in quantity if possible. Holders of 1964 sets, for instance, found no difficulty in moving their proofs for nine dollars or more. Few sets were offered dated earlier than 1955.

The small number of customers making an appearance at the show caused the dealers to spend most of Friday and Saturday selling to each other. These sales exposed some very interesting price trends. For example, proof sets and choice singles of the various non current series were very popular and sold readily. Rolls of the semi key Morgans were also in demand.

But in general, rolls of nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars were very hard to dispose of in any quantity. Most of the dealer to dealer sales were made at below our current PACE bid prices.

The auction was attended in desultory fashion and as a result, prices arrived at nowhere near their expected level. Possibly this was due to the nearby presence of the gaming tables. However we got the impression that many were holding off on their major early summer buying in order to see if the lowering market trends would continue.

Whatever the reason, the Thursday session started with attendance of about 50 and by the end there were fewer than ten bidders remaining. A shortage of catalogs made itself felt: each item up for sale had to be described completely.

The Friday and Saturday sessions of the auction were better attended. However, many items sold at below catalog and some singles and rolls had to be protected by their owners.

Few Purchasers Present

Most of those who paid admission to the show were just spectators. They were very impressed with the high prices of the coins spread before them, but few cared to buy at those levels. Many showed little knowledge of even the approximate value of the sets on exhibit. One visitor, when given a price of thirty seven fifty for a complete uncirculated Mercury dime set actually pulled out, after some hesitation, $37.50.

Another occurrence which took place quite often during the weekend was the appearance of neophyte investors-to-be at many of the tables. These novices to numismatics had obviously heard that there were fortunes to be made in coins and were there to make theirs. They paid little heed to what they were buying and as a result, the junk dealers had a field day.

The whole current trend of numismatics today was summed up in one two ended transaction which took place Sunday morning. While a dealer's assistant sold, for $80, a bag of 1964-D cents at one end of the table, the dealer, at the other end of the table, was purchasing a gem uncirculated roll of Walking Liberty half dollars for the same price.

The current date roll market is still very much alive but many dealers seem to be showing a preference for the older, more scarce rolls and singles. Let anybody who doubts this go to the average dealer with the above two items and see which one is bid for.

The show ended in the early hours of Sunday afternoon with the usual flurry of price cutting by those who didn't care to carry home heavy stocks of merchandise. But many had already departed and few purchasers remained to do business.

Next year's R.C.D.A. show will be in Syracuse, New York, in June. This is a good choice for it is the opinion of many that a coin show in a resort town is doomed to general disinterest. With as heavy a concentration of coin collectors as there are in the New York area, the attendance, it is to be hoped, will be much heavier than at this year's show.

zil, the only metal coins in circulation were made of aluminum, due to the instability of their governments and lack of faith in their money. There were no silver or copper or nickel or brass coins in circulation in Argentina or Brazil. People had so little faith in their currency that when they obtained coins made of metal of greater value than aluminum, they took those coins out of circulation for the value of the metal in them.

"Silver creates confidence. I would dislike to see silver dollars taken out of circulation in this country, though they are not used so much in urban areas. They have been historically used in our part of the country for a long time. Their history goes back to the use of pieces of eight of the Spanish colonial era. That coin was the size of a silver dollar and was used as a medium of circulation in the English colonies and in the United States until the American Civil War. This coin, the Spanish dollar, the "pieces of eight," was really an 8-real coin. They were circulated in Latin America, Asia, Mexico, and in rural areas in the United States until at least the Civil War. That is where we got the term "bit" from. If a coin of 8 reals was cut in two pieces, a half became four bits. If an 8-real coin was cut in four pieces, each piece became two bits, and became "a quarter" and was worth a quarter or 25 cents of our dollar. We still use the terms "two bits," "four bits," "a quarter" in the South and West.

"So there are many good reasons for having the silver dollar as a circulating unit in our medium of exchange, instead of paper dollars only.

"I commend the Senator from Montana for his efforts. His statement for the silver dollar as a part of our circulating medium of exchange, strengthens the faith of the people of the country in our currency and money. Keeping the silver dollar in circulation would help create strength in our money, the people's faith in that money, and in the Government itself."

By the exception of a few comments of dignity and wisdom offered in evidence, the June 3 debate in the Senate on the minting of silver dollars issue, is unsatisfactory to the voting citizen and tax payer. There is indeed room, even in the most serious debates, for a light touch of verbosity and frivolity.

When Congressional alacrity however reaches the proportions of a Gilbert and Sullivan rehearsal there is cause for concern how the Nation's business is conducted on an issue so grave.

It is sad indeed, the day has come where the main argument for a Congressional debate is centered around a macaronic verse, while so many other justifiable and intrinsic values are overlooked which could better serve the cause of silver dollar issuance.

The integral and unabridged text, of what Senator Mansfield refers to as a "communication" from one Mrs. Thomas M. Lane, follows here, as reprinted in the Congressional Record:

Monthly Gold and Silver Review

Production of recoverable gold from domestic mines increased to 116,900 ounces in March 1964, a 2 percent increase over February, according to preliminary data compiled by the Bureau of Mines. Gold production for the first quarter was 347,800 ounces compared with 332,000 ounces in the corresponding period of 1963.

Gold exports in ore and bullion for February exceeded imports by 0.30 million ounces, valued at $0.78 million. Gold prices in London averaged $35.079 per ounce and ranged between $35.058 and $35.098 per ounce. Military operations in Cyprus prompted increased demand for gold coins and bars. Sovereigns (Elizabeth type) reached a record high of $9.84 per coin. This constitutes a 20% agio. Soviet gold sales are estimated at $45 million, causing pressure on gold prices.

U. S. gold stocks increased $33 million during the month to $15,551 million at the end of March. This is $395 million less than the comparable period in 1963.

U. S. gold reserves constitute about 37 percent of total free world central bank and government reserves. The ratio of gold reserves to Federal Reserve note and deposit liabilities was 30.2 on March 31, compared with 32.5 percent at the end of March 1963.

Net short-term liabilities to foreigners (liabilities less claims) payable in dollars, constituting potential claims on U. S. gold reserves decreased $181 million in February to $17,386 million.

Mine output of recoverable silver in the U. S. increased 14 percent in March over February, but is still 6 percent below March 1963. Silver ore and bullion imports decreased 0.41 million ounces, exports rose 1.38 million ounces. On balance net imports were 1.19 million ounces.

According to daily statements of the Treasury, the silver bullion reserve backing silver certificates was reduced by 18.6 million ounces, equivalent to $24.0 million.

Bills introduced in the Congress affecting silver include: S 2671 and HR 10534, calling for the reduction of silver content in U. S. coinage from 90 to 80 percent; Bill HR 10560, to prohibit the sale of silver bullion by the U. S. Treasury; Bill HR 10560, to increase the monetary value of silver to $2.58 per ounce.

The New York price of silver remained unchanged for the sixth consecutive month at $1.293 per ounce (H&H).

1879 O A REAL WINNER

These rolls came in as a complete bag of 1879-O. Personally I have only heard of five full bags which came in as a complete bag of a thousand dollars and in BU condition. True, many have only the slightest of wear, because they were in circulation for only a year or so. Most of them must have been released and apparently people did not want to lug them around, so were brought back to the mint and sealed. The last dates to show on these early O's were the years of 1882 and 1883. These rolls are unusually clean and free of marks.

$149.50 Roll

I went through many bags and found perhaps 200 or 300 79-O's in a bag which were BU. These are not in as good a shape as the ones above, but they are BU and are the usual run of the mill.

$1575⁰⁰ Bag

With each bag I will give a very unique dollar. This dollar is one that you cannot buy—because I have never seen or heard of any others. For want of a better name—I call it an 1878 9TF. The dies shipped when they were making the 7/8 TF and there is a run over between No. 1 and No. 2, and between No. 2 and No. 3 tail feathers. The wreath and the arrow are smashed. On the front, the face of the woman has an open nostril. There are many odd things about this dollar. I have a half bag of these, and will include one in each bag of the above deal. This one dollar, mirror finish, could someday pay the $1495.00. Shipped Air-freight Collect.

ABOUT JOINING THE
SOCIETY...

Joseph M. Segel, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Commemorative Society, Inc., is noted for his contributions to American commerce. He was formerly a member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania and is now President of Jordan-Edwards Co., Publisher of The Counselor, Chairman of the Board of Directors of National Business Services, Inc. and Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the non-profit Customer Relations Research Foundation. He is listed in World Who's Who In Commerce and Industry and his work has been acclaimed by scores of business publications.

Other distinguished members of the N.C.S. Board of Directors are: George J. Miller, Jr., LL.B., C.P.A., Member of the Maryland Bar and President of Baltimore Business Investment Co.; Jack Neff, D.D.S.; Edward W. Silver, LL.B., Member of the Pennsylvania Bar, Secretary; and Stanley Merves, C.P.A., Treasurer.

The National Commemorative Society

INCORPORATED UNDER PA. PUBLIC LAW 364 APPROVED MAY 5, 1933, AS AMENDED

1617 John F. Kennedy Boulevard — Philadelphia, Pa. 19103

Here is the latest news about the National Commemorative Society:

- Item - The first platinum proof of the first N.C.S. Commemorative (the MacArthur Memorial Coin Medal) brought $2,250.00 at the R.C.D.A. Convention Auction on June 6. The entire proceeds from the sale of this piece were donated to the U.S. Olympic Games Fund. Each Member of the Society will receive one serially-numbered sterling silver proof struck from the same dies. But, no one, not even the officers of the Society, will be able to obtain more than one proof for each registered Membership.
- Item - More than two-thirds of the first 3500 N.C.S. Charter Members cast their ballots for the subject of the second N.C.S. Commemorative. The winning subject was the 100th Anniversary of the U.S. Coinage Motto "IN GOD WE TRUST." This subject, which has great numismatic significance, won handily over five other contenders by a wide margin. Ballots for the third N.C.S. Commemorative are now being distributed, and the subject that receives the most votes by July 10 will be declared the winner.
- Item - The Society is particularly proud to announce that Gilroy Roberts, Chief Sculptor-Engraver of the United States Mint, has accepted a private commission from the Society to design and sculpt the second N.C.S. Commemorative. Mr. Roberts was appointed Chief Sculptor-Engraver of the Mint by the President of the United States on July 22, 1948. His most recent and famous work is the portrait of John F. Kennedy on the new half dollar. In his long and illustrious career with the Mint, he has designed and sculpted a number of famous congressional medals, as well as distinctive coinage for five foreign countries. The Society is also proud to announce that the entire proceeds from the sale at auction of the first platinum proof of the second N.C.S. Commemorative will go to the Building Fund of the American Numismatic Association.

Now, here is the final reminder we promised you — JUNE 30, 1964 IS THE LATEST DATE THAT YOU CAN MAIL YOUR APPLICATION FOR CHARTER MEMBERSHIP IN THE NATIONAL COMMEMORATIVE SOCIETY, AND IT IS ALSO THE LATEST DATE THAT YOU CAN JOIN FOR ONLY $40.00.

After acting on all applications postmarked prior to July 1, the Society will accept no further applications for additional memberships in 1964. Should the membership rolls be reopened in 1965 or later, the Board of Directors has committed itself to increase the Membership Fee to at least $50.00 at that time.

The Society is a private corporation that was formed to provide a unique service to a select group of coin collectors and investors with foresight. Recognizing the rapidly growing interest in privately-struck commemoratives, and the prices at which many of these issues are now selling, the need has arisen for a new concept of controlled production and distribution in this field. The National Commemorative Society has fully developed this concept and now offers the first and only program specifically designed:

- (1) to provide collectors with the opportunity to start and complete a superb collection of high quality commemorative coin medals (privately-struck medals produced on the same basic type of coinage equipment used by the Mint to produce proof sets) at a low fixed cost; and, at the same time,
- (2) to establish the most favorable conditions for these collections to increase in value faster than most other new issues of either U.S. or private coinage.

Here is the N.C.S. Program:

- A. Members of the Society will select, by mail ballot, a new commemorative subject each month. The Society will then proceed to produce an original coin medal commemorating this subject. Commemorative committees throughout the country will be urged to submit their suggestions to the Society, and these suggestions will be treated as nominations. But, the final decision each month will be made by the membership at large.
- B. Each commemorative produced by the Society will be English crown size (slightly larger than a silver dollar) and will be struck from highly polished dies, only on proof-quality sterling silver and platinum planchets. There will be no copies struck in bronze or other non-precious metals.

- C. Each of these proofs will be serially-numbered on the edge. There will be no unnumbered pieces issued.
- D. The total issue of each N.C.S. Commemorative will be strictly limited as follows:

ONE proof will be struck in Platinum and auctioned off at the next major rare coin auction, for the benefit of an appropriate non-profit organization, determined by the nature of the subject being commemorated.

ONE proof will be struck in Platinum and presented to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington for the national archives.

ONE proof will be struck in Platinum and retained by the Society for special exhibition at the New York World's Fair and later private sale.

ONE proof will be struck in Sterling Silver, serially numbered and registered, for each Member of the Society.

NO OTHER PIECES WILL BE STRUCK, AND THE DIES WILL THEN BE DESTROYED. A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SOCIETY WILL BE ON HAND TO WITNESS THE DESTRUCTION OF THE DIES EACH MONTH, AND A NOTARIZED STATEMENT WILL BE FILED TO THAT EFFECT.

Each owner of a Membership in good standing will have the exclusive right to purchase, at the original issue price of $6.60, the monthly commemorative scheduled to be struck in sterling silver with the serial number of that Membership inscribed on its edge. As long as the Member exercises this option each month, within the time period established by the Board of Directors, his Membership will continue in good standing. Memberships in good standing may be bought and sold and are freely transferable on the books of the Society. The Member may also cancel or allow his Membership to lapse at any time, which releases him from any further obligation to the Society and vice-versa.

Thus, a Member in good standing has two types of assets resulting from his Membership. First, he has the commemoratives he has purchased, and the handsome Collector's Case supplied for each ten N.C.S. commemoratives. He can hold on to these collector's items for their beauty and investment value, or he may sell them whenever he wishes. Second, he has the right to purchase future commemoratives at the original issue price, which right he can also keep or sell as he wishes.

Except for one of the three Platinum proofs to be struck each month, the Society will always be sold out on the day of issue, because only one piece will be struck for each Membership in good standing. Anyone who wants to start a collection of these outstanding commemoratives after July 1, 1964 will have to buy the pieces from a Member who is willing to give up all or part of his collection, with or without the future rights, at a price determined by the laws of supply and demand.

If you would like to become one of the Charter Members of the National Commemorative Society, you are invited to fill out the application form on this page and submit it before July 1, 1964. Please note that no Charter Membership applications can be accepted that are postmarked after June 30. In all fairness to those who have already signed up, no extensions of this deadline can be granted.

Sincerely yours,

THE NATIONAL COMMEMORATIVE SOCIETY, INC.

CHARTER MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION

(Not valid if postmarked after June 30, 1964)

Stanley Merves, Treasurer
The National Commemorative Society, Inc.
1617 John F. Kennedy Boulevard
Philadelphia, Pa. 19103

Please enroll me as a Charter Member of The National Commemorative Society, Inc. Enclosed is a check or money order for $46.60*—$40.00 for my Charter Membership Fee and $6.60 for the Society's first limited-issue Commemorative. This MacArthur Memorial Coin Medal is to be struck in Sterling Silver, numbered and registered under my name, and sent to me together with a Deluxe Velvet-Lined Collector's Chest designed to hold ten N.C.S. Commemoratives. The Society guarantees that after the first three pieces of each Commemorative issue are struck in platinum, only one piece will be struck in Sterling Silver for each registered member, and then the dies will be destroyed.

It is understood that, as long as this Membership is maintained in good standing, I (or whomever this Membership is transferred to) shall have the sole right to purchase, at the Original Issue Price of $6.60, the Sterling Silver Commemorative scheduled to be struck each month by the Society with the Number of this Membership inscribed on its edge. It is further understood that this Membership can be maintained in good standing indefinitely without the necessity of paying an additional Membership Fee, as long as the monthly option is exercised within the time period established by the Board of Directors. And, finally, that I may cancel or allow this Membership to lapse at any time, thus automatically cancelling any obligations that the Society may have to me or that I may have to the Society.

A Brief Review of Numismatics Today

An Economic Appraisal in Depth

by Dr. Robert Bilinski

51. Almost 50 per cent of the coin collectors in the U. S. are centered about a geographical area in the midwest and north-east. This general largely contains Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, and Massachusetts.

52. California and New York continue to be the leaders in number of coin collectors.

53. Large numbers of collectors who are investing in coins have an over-inflated idea of their coin investment. However, the most surprising thing is this: If told that they had to sell right now they would not know how to sell, nor where.

54. It would be wise for every coin collector to ask himself the question: If I had to sell today, who would I sell to and how much would they really offer?

55. About 10 per cent of today's coin collectors are women. An interesting point: Most are less interested in coin investment than their male counterparts.

56. The average coin collector who purchases coin publications will spend from $5 to $9 each year on them.

57. About 60 per cent of today's coin collectors have had their collection insured.

58. One can become overwhelmed by the large number of publications containing numismatic information. Just to name a few: Spinning Wheel Magazine, Numismatic Scrapbook, Hobbies Magazine, Coin Collector, Antiques Magazine, Coin World, American Numismatic Society Bulletins, The Numismatist, The Spink Letter, Numismatic News, Coin Investor, Silver Dollar Digest, PACE, Collectors News, Coins Magazine, Coin Investors Bulletin, Strauss Monthly, I. C. E. Bulletin, Black & White Coin List, Stacks Numismatic Service, Seaby's Coins and Medal Bulletin, Empire Review, The TNA News, Canadian Bulletin, Mint Errors, The Penny, and Nationwide Coins, to name a few.

59. Coin collectors are generally aware of their mistakes but few collectors will not, or cannot, avoid the same mistakes. The most common mistake: not buying key coins immediately. A second mistake (somewhat related to the first) not starting sooner.

60. Twenty-eight per cent of coin collectors believe coins are better investments than stocks; four per cent believe stocks are better; thirty-five per cent believe there is no difference between the two, and thirty-seven per cent believe there is a difference but are not sure what that difference is.

61. Sixty-seven per cent of coin collectors believe that coin publications are their most important accessory; 26 per cent feel that coin supplies such as the magnifying glass, coin holders, etc., are most important; and the remaining seven per cent consider miscellaneous items or factors to be most valuable to them.

62. A quick review of areas in which collectors expect to start (or enlarge their collection) shows Lincoln Heads in first place, proofs a close second, Indian Head cents in third position, Buffalo nickels in fourth and Jefferson nickels in fifth. Franklin half-dollars have not really increased in popularity among collectors.

63. A trend which is gaining momentum: Many collections containing quality coin material are remaining in the hands of the family after the death of the owner. The trend is toward passing the collection down as a family heirloom.

64. Total sales for 1964 have already exceeded the total for 1962 (over $100 million) the year of the last Bilinski survey.

65. It now is necessary to include the coin investor broker within the ranks of the coin dealers. Formerly, a coin dealer was defined as one of the following: full-time dealer, full-time dividend interest dealer, full-time dealer (office type), and part time dealer.

66. There is a growing tendency on the part of some coin collectors to over-depend upon their coin dealers for advice in coin investments. In general, the coin dealer is a competent investment authority in respect to his immediate locality, but not in respect to the U. S. as a whole.

67. In general, during depressions and economic adjustments coin prices hold their price levels. Wars and conflict seem to induce price increases.

MANA

Cashdan's Coin Comments

Eliot J. Cashdan

We have just returned from Reno, Nevada where we attended the first annual convention of the Retail Coin Dealers Association. On the way home we stopped over in Las Vegas for a day also. We are not writing a travelogue, but just laying a little ground work for our article.

Anyone who has ever been to Reno or Las Vegas knows that paper one dollar bills were practically non-existent in those towns, or at least one never received anything but silver dollars in change at any retail establishment. Today, just the opposite is true. None of the shops in Reno or Las Vegas give out silver dollars in change anymore, and even the gambling casinos seem to be in very short supply. There was only one casino in Reno that had silver dollars available on the gaming tables, and we did not see any displayed at all in the casinos in Las Vegas. It was possible to get silver dollars at the cashier's window at every casino, but they would only give them to you if you agreed to play the silver dollar slot machines with the silver dollars they gave you in change.

Strictly as a matter of numismatic interest we changed several bills into silver dollars and then examined them to see what the dates were. Strangely enough, we found several of the dollars that were given to us in change to be worth a premium, some as high as $4.00 per coin. We also noticed quite a few dollars that seemed to be uncirculated and had probably just been taken out of the bags and put on the tables. Most of these uncirculated dollars were the commoner dates that have been released recently such as 1881-S, 1883-O, 1885-O, 1885-P, 1886-P, and 1887-P. We also noticed a bunch of 1879-O, 1880-O, 1881-O and 1882-O which were in almost uncirculated condition. There were a few uncirculated Peace dollars, mostly 1922-P and 1923-P on the tables, but the bulk of the dollars that we saw were circulated dollars, and some of them were quite worn.

There is an old saying that goes something like this, 'Bad money drives good money out of circulation'. Far be it from us to suggest that the paper money of the United States is 'bad money', but silver dollars have sure been driven out of circulation during the past few months. Of course the biggest reason for this is the current price of silver which at this moment is slightly over $1.29 per ounce. Certain speculators who foresee a greater rise in the price of silver have been purchasing common circulated silver dollars in great quantities mainly for their bullion value. These coins are being hoarded for expected future profits on the silver and not for numismatic value at all. Through checking around Reno and Las Vegas we found out that there are several large hoards of silver dollars in both of these cities owned by private individuals, casino owners, and banks, but these coins are not available to the general public. Of course a paper dollar is a promise of the U. S. Government, and if that becomes worthless, nothing else makes any difference either, so it would seem silly to save silver dollars with that thought in mind. However, we have noticed that in many foreign countries, especially where the people are not educated, paper money means little to the average person. All they hope for is to have a few pieces of gold or silver coins to put back for emergencies and their old age. The U. S. is the only country that does not allow its citizens to own gold bullion and limits the ownership of gold coins to collectors only—and these gold coins must be coins that have been struck before 1933 unless they can be proven to have a definite numismatic value. Although the price of gold bullion is fixed at $35.00 per ounce here in our country, in many sections of the world it is bringing from 50% to 90% more on the black market. The

FROM THE NATION'S CAPITAL

1964 U.S. MINT SETS

Despite the earliest cut off date on Mint Sets in the history of coin collecting we are able to offer these 1964 U. S. Mint Sets, 10 BU Coins, one of each denominations of both Mints. From select Mint Sealed Bags, these sets are sealed in plastic at the following low prices.

ONE SET	$3 ⁷⁵
20 SETS	$72 ⁵⁰
100 SETS	$355 ⁰⁰

(Maximum order 200 sets)

The shortage of the 1964 Mint Set was further emphasized when the treasury issued the bulletin that it would reserve the right to curtail or cancel any order at any time regardless of whether it had been acknowledged or not. This shocking statement was released on the front page of the May 20 issue of Coin World.

We have a limited quantity of these available and sincerely suggest you place your order immediately. We in turn promise immediate delivery.

a demand from customers for the Kennedy coin—a demand they are unable to meet. Issued two months ago, the new coins have been snatched up so fast that circulating specimens are now as few and far between as whooping cranes.

Even the Mercantile Bank, 50 per cent owned by New York's Citibank, couldn't obtain any.

But Toronto-Dominion's King and Bay branch succeeded in getting a few hundred of the precious metals by ordering them early in the new year.

Selling them at 55 cents each (four cents for the premium on U.S. funds and a penny for the Toronto-Dominion's troubles) they ran out in no time.

The coins are now available in Toronto only from rare coin dealers—at two- and - a-half times their face value.

Says James Culek of Crown Stamp and Coin Shop: "They

First N.C.S. Platinum Proof Brings $2,250.00 At Auction

The first platinum proof of the first commemorative produced by the recently organized National Commemorative Society brought $2,250.00 at the R.C.D.A. Convention Auction in Reno on June 6. The entire proceeds from the sale of this piece were donated to the U.S. Olympic Games Fund. Only two other platinum proofs were struck — one for the Smithsonian Institute and one for exhibition at the World's Fair. Each Member of the Society will receive one sterling silver proof struck from the same dies. But, according to the Society's spokesman, Joseph M. Segel, no one, not even the officers of the Society, will be able to obtain more than one proof for each registered membership.

"In God We Trust" Chosen For Second N.C.S. Subject

More than two-thirds of the first 3500 Charter Member of the National Commemorative Society cast their ballots for the subject of the second N. C. S. Commemorative. The winning subject was the 100th Anniversary of the U.S. Coinage Motto "IN GOD WE TRUST." This subject, which has great numismatic significance, won handily over five other contenders by a wide margin. Ballots for the third N.C.S. Commemorative are now being distributed, and the subject that receives the most votes by July 10 will be declared the winner.

Editor's note—"Coins versus stamps" was submitted by an eleven year old coin collector. The article is reprinted here in full. The views expressed by the youthful writer do not necessarily reflect the editorial opinions of PACE. The main purpose for publication of this rather refreshing essay is to demonstrate there is a new breed of young aspiring numismatists in the making. Their basic attitudes towards numismatics will determine the success or failure of the entire coin industry for decades to come. The coin industry owes these youngsters sincerity and some promise of hope for a bright numismatic future devoid of cynicism, excessive mercantilism, and the shenanigans of mouth-to-ear dealings executed in the name of "professional numismatics."

Coins vs. Stamps

By STEPHAN WEXLER

A 125 year old battle, still raging at top speed without a leader.

When the first stamp was issued by Great Britain in 1840, and the first stamp collector's albums were published by France in 1866, a battle then began between stamps and coins to find out which one of the two was the most profitable and which would be the favorite and wide-spread hobby throughout the world.

Of the 180 million people in the United States, more than 11% or over 19 million people collect stamps, either as a hobby or as a business. A few stamps issued since the start of 1964 that are especially famous in the U.S. are the Tonga Gold Stamps, the New York World's Fair Stamp, and the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Stamp, just recently issued. The Tonga Gold Stamps have opened up a new field of beauty in stamps that is beyond compare from any coin ever issued. The New York World's Fair Stamp and the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Stamp commemorate both happiness and grief in the United States' 186 years as a free and independent nation.

A few rare stamps are known to collector's and non-collector's alike. The British Guiana 1-penny is the rarest and highest priced stamp in the history of the making of making of stamps. It is no wonder that it is the rarest, because only one of its kind has ever been found anywhere in the world. Its present value is around $265,000. The Cape of Good Hope 4-pence, which was issued in 1853 was the first stamp to have a shape other than that of a square or rectangle which, up to that time, had been the only shape of stamps that had been issued. A famous U.S.A. rarity is the 24c inverted Air Mail stamp. It may be recognized by the upside-down plane in the center of the stamp. There is only one sheet known to exist, which was bought in 1943 for $250,000.

Many famous world personalities collected and still do collect stamps. Queen Elizabeth II and her grandfather, King George VI collected stamps. When King George VI died, he passed on his collection to the next generation of his family of royalty, and his collection has now reached Queen Elizabeth II. She is still carrying on her family tradition of stamp collecting. Three U.S. presidents, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Herbert C. Hoover, and Franklin D. Roosevelt were great stamp collectors and their collections are renowned throughout the United States and the world.

Coins have two great advantages over stamps, that is enough to keep coins and stamps at a strong standstill, with few gains for either side. One advantage is that there are many more coins than there are stamps. The other one is the long and historic age of coins.

This history of coins started in the 8th century B.C. These coins were made of bronze and were not round. The first round coins were issued in the 4th century B.C. In the 7th century A.D., Great Britain

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED—The following Carson City silver dollars are highly recommended, as the supply of these dates will not be adversely affected by any decision the U. S. Treasury Department may make regarding the disposal of dollars currently held in Washington. Rolls of these dates are even now very scarce, reflecting both investor interest and demand and the constant breaking up of rolls to furnish collectors with individual pieces. Other dealers may advertise both singles and rolls at lower prices, but may not be able to deliver due to the recent price advances of these coins on nation-wide numismatic teletype systems. Washington Coin Exchange can and will fill your order.

68. In 1957, several leading numismatists ventured guesses as to total number of coin collectors in the U. S. ranging from 100,000 to 3 million. Looking back, these same numismatists tend to admit that the higher figure was probably nearer the truth.

69. In 1957 a study was conducted to determine whether selected coin club members would be able to identify an uncirculated coin taken from a mint set, and a lustre circulated coin taken from pocket change. Result: Identification was hardly better than chance. The same study was tried again in 1964, result: Identification was hardly better than chance.

70. Coin advertising costs have doubled and tripled. The ment placed in a numismatic publication now wonders whether selling to the local dealer is his best bet after all.

71. To comply with second class postal regulations, numismatic publications cannot exceed 75 per cent advertising. Many subscribers have a hard time finding the 25 per cent which is supposed to be devoted to coin news.

72. The numismatist who quit collecting years back and then decides to return to the hobby is appalled at today's high prices.

73. The commemorative half-dollar, a truly numismatic coin, is still not very popular. High priced, these coins have not been able to gain much popularity in today's coin speculation.

74. Collectors who sort pennies in search of desirable coins are finding that, in general, 912 Lincoln cents are needed to produce one (1) coin dated prior to 1935.

75. A study of certain scarce coins in 1957 which was brought up to date in 1964 indicates that fairly large numbers have in some way been lost to numismatics.

Wexler

finally realized the value of this system of money, and started to mint their own coins. In the 1300's, China became the first country to issue paper money. Gold was first tried in the making of coins and proved to be satisfactory in the making of coins.

The first coin to be issued in the United States was the 1-cent and it was printed in 1787, 11 years after America's independence. The first and only money system was adopted in 1793 and was based on the dollar-and-decimal system. When the Civil War was over, Confederate money became worthless. But today, any Confederate money and even tokens issued during the Civil War have great numismatic value.

When the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Half-Dollar was issued, the same story was repeated by collectors and non-collectors, when a new coin is issued. Everyone rushes to the banks to get the half-dollars in brilliant uncirculated form that there really aren't very many coins left to put into circulation. This is another way that the number of coin-collectors were increased greatly in the United States.

There have been many famous collections and collectors in the history of coins. The former Secretary of Treasury: William H. Woodwin, and former King Victor Emanuel of Italy. In all of the long history of coins, it is believed that Vergil Brand had the biggest collection of anyone else in the world. The number of coins well exceeded 100,000 and when he died his collection sold for more than $1,000,000. At the present time in the New National Museum in Washington, D.C., there is a collection that contains more than 47,000 coins.

The number of coin collectors in the United States is behind coins with 12,000,000 collectors; but this figure is increasing much quicker than the number of stamp collectors, and I feel confident that in about 2½ years the coin collectors and the coin profession will finally pull fully ahead of stamps and force stamps to "surrender."

With Apologies to the Man on the Flying Trapeze
Once we were happy but now we're forlorn,
All of our dollars are tattered and torn;
One hundred years from the day we were born
They snatched all our cartwheels away.

Now these cartwheels of ours they were handsome,
And out West everyone they did please;
Folks back East who like nickels and quarters as much
Gave our cartwheels to hoarders to squeeze
Green backs fly through the air with the greatest of ease,

They fly through the air every time that we sneeze,
We think they're disgraceful, they never will please
Out West where the antelope play.

Back East where it counts, we don't have too much voice
But you must remember we're out here by choice;
Montanans are few, but you'd hear us rejoice
If you'd mint silver dollars today.

Said someone in Washington, Give them the ax!
We'll easternize westerners, search the vault's racks
Just like old potatoes, we'll sell them in sacks.

Get rid of those cartwheels today!
We've got all their buffalo locked in our zoo
We might as well put silver dollars there too;
Then maybe their boots and their jeans will go too
Let's pack all their cartwheels away.

I've heard they've no sales tax to keep them in style;
They're so far behind that they take time to smile,
And only four people to every square mile!
Let's improve Montana today.

If they'll take our greenbacks without hue and cry
We'll send them more wonders—smog for their Big Sky;
They'll all be so pleased—there'll be tears in each eye!

We'll send them some progress today.
Oh we'll share our way of life generously—
Like 5 o'clock traffic and humidity.
Of land they have lots and in lots it will be;
Improve and divide her today.
Montana's the treasure state, land of delight,
It means "shining mountains"; its Big Sky is bright.

Yes, our snow may last long, but at least it stays white!
Please bring back our cartwheels today.
We have inside plumbing, electricity,
And only seen wagon trains on our TV.
Had lunch with an Indian, he said to me,
"Don't take all our cartwheels away!"
We've studied our history, let's guard our past well,

We feel cartwheels rank with the Liberty Bell;
Don't turn them to pasture, they've served the West well—

Please mint silver dollars today.

Fortunes are made through leverage and margin. We have arranged with a prominent bank to finance your coins at 6% bank rates. For example, with each $1000.00 purchase you pay us 10% down, or $100.00 and the bank will finance $900.00 at $80.35 per month for 12 months, or $42.96 per month for 24 months.

These charges include life insurance. If you die during the term of the loan, your coins are automatically paid for and your heirs receive your coins completely paid for. The bank will hold your coins as security in their vaults in your name and ready to be shipped collect upon final payment.

You may pay off your loan in advance.
Please feel free to phone us and let us help you work out your individual finance plan.

main reason for this is that when politics are shaky in these countries the people do not want to rely on the paper currency at all, and they will pay whatever premium necessary to obtain gold. They figure that their paper money might become worthless at any time, but that the gold will always have a definite value as it has had throughout the years all over the world. So if the country they are living in is absorbed by another and the currency invalidated, they can still buy groceries with their gold, or if they leave their country and settle someplace else, all their gold is negotiable wherever they go. Of course silver would be negotiable too, but the difference between $1.29 per ounce and at least $35.00 per ounce makes a big difference in the bulk that would have to be transported around. Speaking about bulk, a $1,000.00 bag of silver dollars weighs 59 pounds, so it would be quite difficult to travel around the country with your life savings in silver dollars. Now here is something that most hoarders overlook. When for instance they bury a bag of silver dollars or hide them under the bed, even if they buy them for face value they are losing money by keeping them buried, unless the price of silver goes up enough to compensate for the interest they are losing on their money.

To our way of thinking it is much better to invest in a numismatic item that has a definite numismatic value to begin with and shows a promise of appreciating in numismatic value, rather than to hope for an increase in the price of the metal alone to realize a profit. Silver dollars with numismatic values will also increase in value relative to the increase in the price of silver if that time ever comes. Actually you will have a double shot going for you when you buy silver dollars with a numismatic value to begin with. When the numismatic value increases you have a profit, and if the silver content value ever increases you have an additional profit.

Of course you will have to decide for yourself which dates of silver dollars you wish to purchase, and then you will have to purchase them at the best price you can. Due to the releases during the past few months many of the formerly scarcer dollars are now common, and several of the dollars that were then common are now scarce by comparison. For example the 1889-P dollar with a mintage of over 21,000,000 never commanded much of a premium in uncirculated condition until quite recently. The reason for this is that when the Treasury started dumping out all the bags of dollars, there were relatively few 1889-P dollars turned loose. This means that they all were out in circulation prior to these last releases, or that a lot of them were melted in 1918 when 270,232,722 silver dollars were melted under the Pittman Act of April, 1918. The availability and the demand determines the price of any coin. When there is a large demand and a large supply the prices are usually reasonable. A small demand with a large supply means that the prices will be comparatively low, while a large demand and small supply tends to drive prices upwards. In our opinion it will take a couple of years yet before anyone can figure out the available supplies of all dates of silver dollars with any accuracy, but of course there are so many dollars hidden away, that it will be necessary to do quite a bit of guessing anyway.

A NEW WHOLESALE SERVICE

offered by Guaranty!

(1) We will deliver any BU Roll or Proof Set listed at wholesale prices!

(2) Wholesale prices are determined by current "Ask" prices listed in PACE.

(3) The "Ask" prices are wholesale quotations compiled by PACE from the American Numismatic Exchange teletype system which serves 195 dealers across the country. (Turn to page 38.)

(4) Your cost for wholesale service is a low 10% fee, which covers the cost of handling, postage and insurance!

(5) Example: If "Ask" price on a BU Roll is $10.00, we deliver this BU Roll for $11.00

(6) A few rolls advertised in other ads may be slightly lower as the prices have not been corrected to the market rise. You can order from us with confidence that your check will not be returned. Under our system of offering BU Rolls and Proof Sets we feel a moral obligation to deliver even if it means a loss to us.

(7) Your order must be postmarked before Sunday, Midnight June 21, or next issue of PACE must be used.

Space City Averages:

How They Are Obtained

With close to 1,500 separate statistics appearing each week in PACE, a need exists to express this information in graphic form for busy readers.

We are currently charting eight different coin series each week as you see below. These charts are based on Space City Averages, an arbitrarily chosen group of rolls which we feel are representative of the total for that series.

To be included in the Space City Averages rolls are chosen on the basis of three factors: (1) their trading is constant, (2) they are widely held, and (3) they are indicative of the series.

It is obvious infrequently traded items, closely held items, and extremes in the series would not serve this purpose.

Each week the statistical staff of PACE prepares these averages from the information obtained on The American Numismatics Exchange transactions.

The amount expressed in the Space City averages is the total market bid prices for the rolls included in the averages. This is a dollar figure and is compared with previous week, month, and year figures for analysis. The high and low for 1964 is also shown.

MARKET SUMMARY

June 11, 1964

By Russell Brown

RELATIVE inactivity and little demand for all denominations characterized the market this week. Trading throughout the week was uneventful, and total declines outnumbered advances almost two to one.

Franklin half dollars presented a solid front of declines. While all were small, there was no desire shown by bidders for the halves and both bid and ask prices edged lower. One party requested 1955-P rolls and was swamped with offers. Largest price reduction was experienced by the 1951-D which dropped $5 in value.

Lincoln cents reversed trends of the preceding weeks and suffered losses in the earlier dates. The only volume shown in the series was in the Denver small date division. Here the bid ask range narrowed as several buyers purchased the small dates in bag quantity. Interest was also shown in the 1955-S, however the price on this issue remained unchanged.

Proof sets were a fairly heavy volume item on tape, however there were few material price changes. Heavy interest is being shown in the 1936 set because of the necessity of including its coins in the various proof denomination sets that many are building at the present. The 1961 set dropped below that of the 1962 set due to inexplicable pressures. The 1964 set showed resistance to price decrease but still declined slightly in a flood of profit taking.

Roosevelt dimes were steady for the most part, but the grouping including the 1954-S and the 1955 issues were hard hit by heavy selling. After rising a dollar or two a week for a long period of time, the 1955-P dropped $12 in two days. Bag lot buying is underway for the 1964-P dime. At the moment, as everyone in numismatics is aware, the mintage of this coin is quite low compared to previous years. Many are buying on the chance that the Mint will continue to make short runs of this issue. But since the Philadelphia mint is capable of striking 50 million of the dimes in one month's time, just how good a gamble this acquisition is will not be known until December. (Or earlier if heavier mintage resumes in the fall.)

The Jefferson nickel series saw less volume this week than at any time during the past month. Very few offers appeared on the teletype to buy or to sell. Several issues, rose, however, due to special interest.

Washington quarters reacted to the week's transactions in a way typical with the rest of the denominations, but somewhat more pronounced. While several of the earlier issues were rising in price by as much as ten dollars, all issues after 1952 either dropped in price or remained unchanged. In retrospect, there have been few advances noted in the 1958, 1959 to date market during the last month.

The Morgan dollar market was more quiet than it has been in months. Only six issues changed price and, except for a $30 increase by the 1894-O, all the changes were relatively minor.

The Peace series was unmoved in price with the only change being a $6.50 advance by the 1924-P.

Market Opinion

At any point in time when a market becomes quiet and prices tend to drift downward, it seems that the first levels to fall are those of the current date merchandise. Review of the market over the past three weeks will show that there is a definite lack of buying interest in the 1956 to date market. The dealers themselves show this attitude by purchasing more rare and choice merchandise while selling off their current date stocks. The feeling is that in the unlikely event of a major selloff, the numismatic items in short supply will tend to weather the storm better than the cheaper, more current and more numerous items.

This approach is in direct opposition to the investment plan of "sticking close to face" to minimize possible loss through market depressions. In defense of the "hold the keys and sell the late dates" it must be pointed out that many of the late date rolls must be acquired to add in value to an amount equal to that expended for a key roll. For example, (and please do not take this as anything but an example) at current PACE ask price of $390, it would take a mix of 400 rolls of 1961-D and 1962-D cents to equal in value one roll of 1960-P small date cents. Now if the market experiences a severe depression, and if these 400 rolls of cents return face value, they will be worth $200. This means that the 1960-P small date roll could drop $185 in value and still be the better investment.

The arguments for sticking close to face value were good to the point of excellence up till 1959, but from that time on, it is our feeling that late date low premium coinage cannot be considered as prime an investment as the same amount placed in key and semi key coins.

Coin Market Fundamentals

Coins are listed by date and mint. Mintmarks follow the date in the list and are the same letter that appear on coins.

Unless indicated as "sets" or "circulated" all items listed on these pages are for Brilliant Uncirculated coins in standard count rolls.

Standard count rolls are as follows for each denomination:

Denomination	Number	Face Value
Cents	50	$.50
Nickels	40	2.00

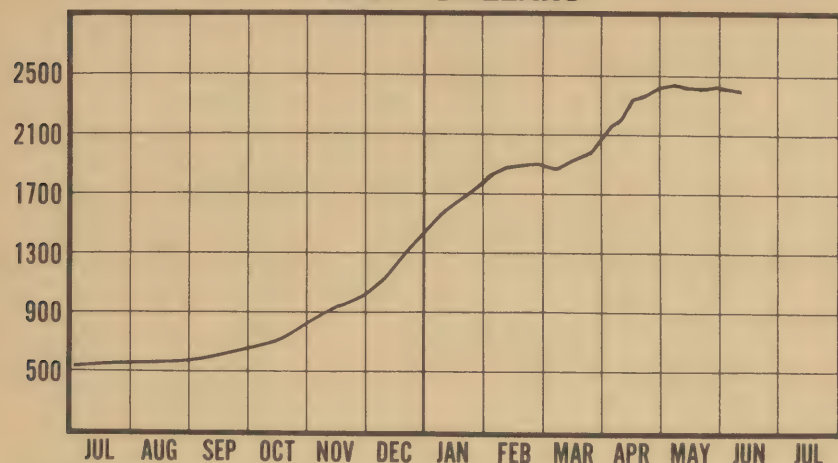

Dimes	50	5.00
Quarters	40	10.00
Half dollars	20	10.00
Silver dollars	20	20.00

Prices listed here are taken from the American Numismatics Exchange transactions and are dealer-to-dealer prices; in effect wholesale prices.

You could expect to sell at these prices, but to buy at retail, you should expect to pay slightly above these prices.

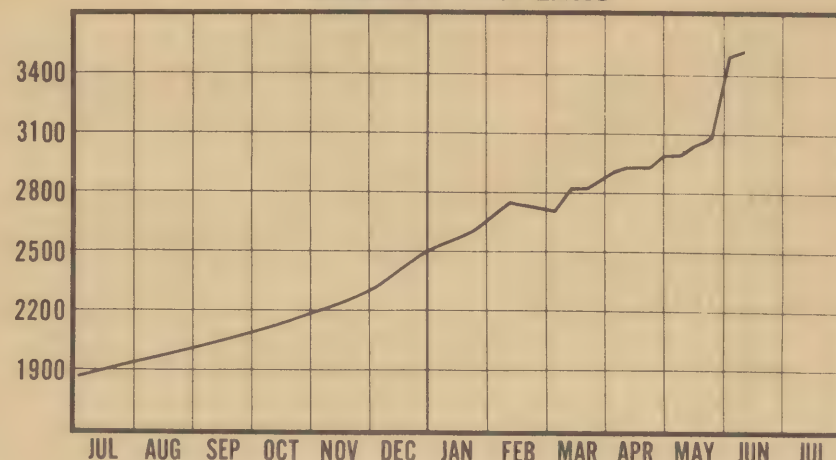

The "LD" and "SD" are varieties of the 1960 cent which were struck with large date and small date figures.

HALF DOLLARS

MORGAN DOLLARS

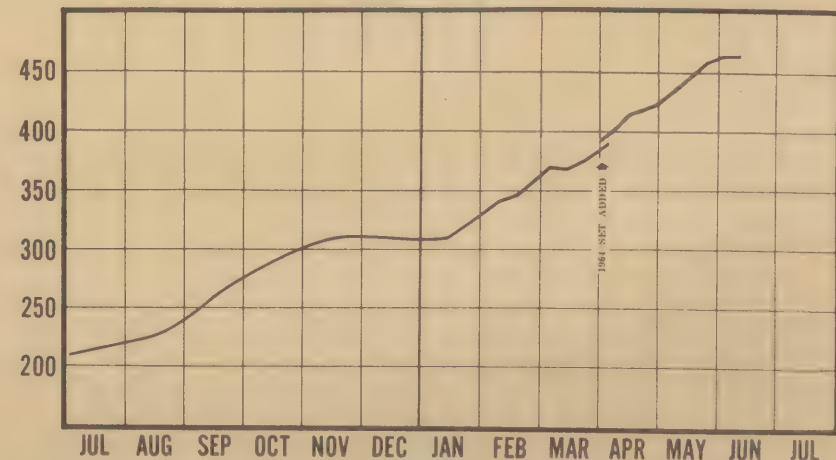

The following BU rolls were used in the calculation of the Morgan dollar averages: 1878-CC, 1879-O, 1882-CC, 1883-CC, 1883-S, 1885-S, 1890-O, 1894-O, 1897-P, 1897-O, 1897-S, 1898-P, 1901-P.

PEACE DOLLARS

The following BU rolls were used in the calculation of the Peace dollar averages: 1922-S, 1923-D, 1926-P, 1926D, 1926-S, 1928-S, 1934-D.

PROOF SETS

All proof sets from 1950 to date, excluding the 1960 small date set, go to make up the proof set averages. The current year's set is added to the average on April first.

American Numismatics Exchange Transactions

BU Roll Prices as of Thursday, June 11, 1964

These bid and asked prices, from the American Numismatic Exchange Inc., do not necessarily represent actual transactions. They are a guide to the range within which these coins could have been sold (indicated by the "bid") or bought (indicated by the "asked") at the time of compilation. Price changes are obtained by comparison of weekly bid prices.

* Prices are wholesale quotations compiled from the American Numismatic Exchange teletype system which serves 195 coin dealers across the country.

★ LAYAWAY PURCHASES ★

MINIMUM LAYAWAY $40.00

Any item may be purchased on our layaway plan at 10% over our advertised prices. On layaway purchases, merely add 10% to the prices shown below, then send your order with a deposit of 20% of the total amount. The balance may be paid in four monthly installments of 20% each. All items so purchased will be deposited in our vault and shipped postpaid, insured immediately upon receipt of final payment. We deliver the same high quality coins under layaway plan that we deliver under our regular mail order.

MIN. LAYAWAY NOW $50.00

Please note new Layaway Rules!

May we suggest that the best way to enhance your investment in coins is to use the W. H. Foster, Inc. LAYAWAY PLAN! You just pick out your needs and we'll put them in the vault in your name . . . ready to mail. Pay 20% down and the balance in monthly installments (or sooner if you desire:) All Layaway Items are insured and sent prepaid at delivery.

The following are our Layaway Rules:

1. Minimum Layaway amount is $50.00.
2. Add 4% to total order.
3. Send 20% down payment and pay 20% a month.
4. Certain items will be marked "no layaway."
5. Penalty: If payments are not complete, money will be refunded less five per cent of total order.

Your order will not be delayed pending clearance of your check. All checks deposited on receipt. All orders accepted subject to prior sale. B & D Grading. Five day return privileges. Please include 25c for postage on orders under $5.00. Washington residents add 4 per cent sales tax. ...THINKING OF SELLING? Remember W. H. FOSTER, INC., has the "fastest checkbook in the west."
